Regarding the Media Report about leakage of Computer Science paper broadcasted on Samaya News this morning, the analysis of the subject expert is extracted as below:

With reference to the Television report in Samaya Television on 13th March 2013 stating the Question Paper of Computer Science was leaked, a copy of the adverted leaked Question Paper given by Samaya Television to the Hon'ble Minister for Primary Education at 11.58 AM was scrutinized with the printed Question Paper which was distributed to 50,775 students who took examination today.

Every question in the reported 'leaked Question Paper' was scrutinized and it is very clear that no question in the copy of the leaked Question Paper tallies with the printed question paper

Comparative analysis is as below:

PART A (10X1 =10)

Q.1.	Question is not tallied
Q.2.	Question is different
Q.3	Question is not tallied
Q.4.	Question is different
Q.5.	Question is different
Q.6.	Question is not tallied
Q.7.	Question is different
Q.8.	Question is different
Q.9.	Question does not tally
Q.10.	Question is different

Opinion: All the one mark questions shown in the copy of reportedly leaked Question Paper are entirely different from the Question Paper distributed to students.

PART B (10 X 2=20)

Q.11.	Question is different
Q.12.	Question is not tallied
Q.13.	Question is different
Q.14.	Question is different
Q.15.	Question is not tallied
Q.16.	Question is different
Q.17.	Question is different
Q.18.	Question is different
Q.19.	Question is not asked
Q.20.	Question is not asked
Q.21.	Question is different
Q.22.	Question is different

Opinion: All the above questions are verified and found that Question Paper are entirely different from the Question Paper distributed to students.

PART C ( 5 marks each question)

Q.23	In this original question paper distributed to students the questions asked is to explain any five components of CPU, but in the copy of the reportedly 'leaked question paper' the general structure of CPU is being asked to explain . Totally question is different
Q.24	Question is different
Q.25	Question is different
Q.26	Question no. 26 is not there in the copy of the reported leaked Question Paper
Q.27	Question is asked as write an algorithm to find the max elements in an array, but in the leaked question paper the student is asked to write an algorithm for insertion Sort. So the question is not tallied with original.
Q.28	Question is entirely different
Q.29	Question is not tallied
Q.30	Question is not tallied
Q.31	Question is different
Q.32.	Question is not tallied and entirely different
Q.33	Question is entirely different
Q.34	Question does not tally it is completely different

PART D ( 10 marks each question)

Q.35	Question is entirely different
Q36	Question is different
Q.37	All three sub questions are not tallied
Q.38	Question 38 is not considered

CONCLUSION:

All the questions in the copy of the leaked Question Paper as well as the questions in the original Question Paper is verified and tallied thoroughly. No question in the copy of the leaked Question Paper tallies the original Question Paper distributed.

Hence the rumours of Question Paper leakage before the examination is fully false.

As such, it is clear that no leakage as reported has taken place.

Conveying best wishes to all the students.
